MAP GOLD SYSTEM: Museum-Grade Security In A Self-Contained Network With MAP v2 Sensor

The MAP Gold System is Art Guard's most complete solution for the protection from theft of art and valuable assets. Designed for private residences—where over 50% of art theft occurs—as well as for galleries and targeted use in museums, the Gold System establishes Art Guard's place in home automation by offering easy-to-use digital ID for any valuable stationary object and multiple paths for system communication. MAP's unique capability is to provide comprehensive, object-specific protection for both hanging and seated pieces, regardless of size, including art, jewelry, antiques, historical artifacts, collectibles, wine and memorabilia.

The Gold System with the new MAP v2 sensor insures even broader coverage in any environment. In magnetometer mode the patented MAP (Magnetic Asset Protection) wireless sensor detects the movement of a tiny rare-earth magnet, which can be safely and discreetly attached to the surface of an object. The MAP sensor is placed nearby—either behind a hanging piece or beneath the surface of a seated object. Any movement of either the asset or sensor triggers an immediate location-specific alert, activating a customized response. When ambient magnetic conditions call for more flexibility v2 can be easily switched to accelerometer mode. MAP protects 24/7 by simply and effectively alarming each individual asset, particularly while intrusion security is turned off to allow for normal activity in the home or institution. MAP offers complete peace of mind with the ultimate in layered security.

MAP Gold combines the effectiveness of the MAP sensor with the ease-of-use and integrity of the most advanced communication technologies. The Gold System delivers sophisticated, encrypted security and automation in a plug-and-play package. This eliminates the need for costly security system installations that can often mean additional equipment, wiring and multiple visits. The system is ready to install out of the box with MAP sensors pre-programmed into the panel. Communications can be direct to IP, primary or secondary 4G cellular or Wi-Fi. The entire system can be managed through a mobile device or computer. Alerts are completely customized, including various alarms, texts and emails to multiple parties and/or direct calls from a central monitoring station. The Gold System combines award winning technology in a flexible, dedicated network to place comprehensive and affordable protection right in the user's pocket no matter where they are.
